PARTIES

Victims from the town of Hinkley, CA 92347, per attached Signatures Pages (Victims)

Dr. John Izbicki, United States Geological Survey (USGS)

State Water Resources Control Board, Research, Planning and Performance (Cal/EPA)

State of California Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board (RWQCB)

II.
ALLEGATIONS

1. The Victims alleges, that the purported as “necessary”, “critical”, and “conclusive”, study and reports by Dr. John Izbicki from USGS, in identifying, distinguishing and reporting the naturally occurring versus anthropogenic (caused by PG&E) occurrence of Hexavalent Chromium in the aquifers beneath the town of Hinkley, California 92347 is a tactical ploy and a conspiracy, aimed to substantially and fraudulently diminish the strict liabilities of Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), in addition to circumventing federal and state laws, including but not limited to the Federal Law “Violation of United States Safe Drinking Water Act (U.S. SDWA).
2. The Victims alleges, that unjust enrichment has occurred by the State of California, specifically by the Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board, and by United States Geological Survey (USGS) and Dr. John Izbicki, evidenced by $3,500,000 (rounded) paid to the State of California Water Board by Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), and $ 1,000,000 (rounded) paid by United States of America to the State of California Water Board, all under conspiracy theory, at the expense of the Victims, suffering total economic losses to real properties and noneconomic losses, including but not limited to sustained health injuries and/or premature wrongful dead.
3. As a direct result thereof acts alleged in Paragraph 2, the acts of Paragraph 1, has occurred. Millions of dollars paid by PG&E has influenced Regulatory Agency’s acts, as exhibited herein.

THEREFORE, THE VICTIMS HEREBY DEMAND IMMEDIATE INVESTIGATION BY FBI.

SAMPLING AND LABORATORY TESTING, CONDUCTED BY DR. JOHN IZBICKI FROM USGS, OF ANY WELL IN HINKLEY, CA 92347 IS ABSOLUTELY UNWARANTED, THUS THE TASK OF IDENTIFYING NATURALLY OCCURRING, VERSUS ANTROPOGENIC (CAUSED BY PG&E) OCCURRENCE OF HEXAVALENT CHROMIUM IS ALLEGED TO BE A TACTICAL PLOY, AND SUCH ALLEGATION IS BASED UPON THE POINTS AND AUTHORITIES EXHIBITED HEREIN BELOW.

"For the purposes of a detailed geochemical background study, however, no useful geologic information on background concentrations can be obtained from mixed well waters that are available in a well which is screened over two aquifer zones. The laboratory sample results from wells containing mixed aquifer 'waters cannot be considered reflective of any specific aquifer and, therefore, they should not be used in a scientifically based background study of Cr(T) and Cr(VI)'" (Page 5, middle)

"Depending on the water pressures associated with each aquifer, the Upper Aquifer Cr(T) and Cr(VI) concentrations in 'mixed aquifer' wells will likely be diluted by the cleaner Lower Aquifer. If the Lower Aquifer has significantly higher pressure than the Upper Aquifer, the www.clearwatergroup.com Since 1990 229 Tewksbury Ave., Pt. Richmond, CA 94801 TEL: 510-307-9943; FAX: 510-232-2823 6 overall concentrations of Cr(T) and Cr(VI) will be more diluted". (Page 5, bottom / Page 6, top)

"These concentrations of the well water reflect the overall water quality from the individual wells and the overall Cr(T) and Cr(VI) exposure potential to humans or the environment. However, these wells have almost no value in showing background levels of Cr(T),Cr(VI),or other chemicals" (Page 6, middle)

RESEARCH REPORT ON THE EFFECTS OF
THE 1967-68 DROUGHT
ON THE
WATER RESOURCES

WATER RESOURCES

The purpose of this report is to provide a summary of the results of the research conducted during the 1967-68 drought. The research was conducted in the area of water resources and the results are presented in the following sections.

The first section of the report is a description of the drought conditions. The drought was characterized by a severe shortage of water, which was caused by a combination of factors, including a lack of rainfall and a high rate of evaporation.

The second section of the report is a description of the methods used in the research. The methods included a combination of field observations and laboratory experiments. The field observations were conducted in the area of the drought, and the laboratory experiments were conducted in a controlled environment.

The third section of the report is a description of the results of the research. The results show that the drought had a significant impact on the water resources. The water level in the reservoirs was significantly lower than in previous years, and the flow of water in the rivers was significantly reduced.

The fourth section of the report is a discussion of the implications of the results. The results suggest that the drought was caused by a combination of factors, including a lack of rainfall and a high rate of evaporation. This suggests that the drought was not a one-time event, but rather a recurring phenomenon.

The fifth section of the report is a conclusion. The conclusion is that the drought had a significant impact on the water resources, and that the results suggest that the drought was caused by a combination of factors, including a lack of rainfall and a high rate of evaporation.

"In summary, the natural Cr(VI) and Cr(T) levels will be difficult to assess since the entire area has had intense agricultural pumping from both Upper and Lower Aquifers for up to eight decades. Artificial recharge has also been occurring in certain locations, affecting the natural background conditions of Cr(T) and Cr(VI). The background study for both Cr(T) and Cr(VI) in the current form is inadequate and inaccurate for reasons given above". (Page 9, bottom)

PURPORTED LOCKHART EARTHQUAKE FAULT, AS BEING AN IMPEDIMENT TO WATER PERCOLATING THRU IT, IS HEREBY ALLEGED AS INTENTIONAL DISTORTION AND MISLEADED FACTS. IN FACT, THE HIGH PERMEABILITY ZONES DUE TO LITHOLOGIC CHARACTERISTICS OR GEOLOGIC FAULTS (LOCKHART), TRIGGERS CONTRADICTION, THUS THE LOCKHART EARTHQUAKE FAULT IS NOT AN IMPEDIMENT, FURTHER BASED UPON THE FOLLOWING HEREIN BELOW POINTS AND AUTHORITIES.

"As noted, well data should reflect specific aquifer zones, not mixed zones. Given the eight decades of intense agricultural pumping, it is possible that with preferred flow pathways (high permeability zones due to lithologic characteristics or geologic faults (Lockhart) or other potential conduits), some of the Cr(T) and Cr(VI) from the Core Area may have migrated over the past decades toward the east or west into the East Cross Gradient Area or the West Cross Gradient Area, respectively". (Page 11, middle)

ASSERTIONS BY THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA LAHONTAN REGIONAL WATER QUALITY CONTROL BOARD THAT THE AGRICULTURAL OPERATIONS BY THE DAIRY'S FARMERS ARE EXACTLY THE SAME AS AGRICULTURAL OPERATIONS CONDUCTED BY PG&E, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO OTHER UNSUBSTANTIATED ASSERTIONS, ALLEGED TO SHIELD PG&E FROM LIABILITY, ARE CONTRADICTED BY HEREIN BELOW POINTS

"c) Role of irrigation with Cr(VI) water in the increase of the plume Deposition of Cr(VI) throughout the basin land surface has not been mapped. Correlation between land irrigation of Cr(T) and Cr(VI) impacted groundwater at the Land Treatment Units and the presence of chromium in the underlying soil and groundwater needs more focused investigation. The mechanism of remediation of spraying Cr(VI) onto the soil and the conversion of the oxidized Cr(VI) into the reduced Cr(III) and ultimately into chromium hydroxide using soil as a treatment media are not well documented or verified. Peroxide and acids may clean the drip or irrigation lines, but may also help to mobilize and carry the Cr(T) and Cr(VI) deeper into the subsurface environment if the acids or peroxide are spilled onto the soil. d) Lack of control of groundwater extraction throughout the basin There has been none, and there is currently no hydraulic control over the groundwater basin, so the plume will continue to migrate. The Cr(VI) plume is expanding both laterally to the north, as well as vertically, as evidenced by plume maps from 2001 to current consultant studies. e) Historic patterns of Cr(VI) migration There may be historic patterns of Cr(VI) migration which have left residue available for future recapture and migration." (Page 11, middle)

"Heavy groundwater extraction since the 1930's supports this concept that the Cr(T) and Cr(VI) plume has migrated cross gradient through preferred flow pathways. Major geochemical changes in the Hinkley Valley caused by large water movements, including extraction, are likely to have occurred over the past several decades, altering background levels of Cr(T) and Cr(VI)." THE HUGE AGRICULTURAL OPERATIONS CONDUCTED BY PG&E, BEING VIRTUALLY ADJACENT TO THE MOJAVE RIVER, WILL PREVENT ANY MEANINGFUL BACKGROUND STUDY OF NATURALLY OCCURRING HEXAVALENT CHROMIUM, THUS THE ENTIRE STUDY BY DR. JOHN IZBICKI IS ALLEGED TO BE A SHAM AND A TACTICAL PLOY, AIMED TO SHIELD PG&E FROM FURTHER INVESTIGATION AND PROSECUTION

"..undisturbed hydrogeologic areas in the Hinkley, California, area do not exist due to the excessive groundwater pumping in the area. Samples upgradient toward the Mojave River may provide the best chance at finding what might be considered background Cr(T) and Cr(VI) concentrations.

Page 4, middle. Assertions by Prof. Yoram Rubin, Ph.D "The practice of hypothesis testing brings another issue to the surface. In hypothesis testing, the common thinking is that the null hypothesis should be a "safe" assumption, meaning an assumption that would not lead to damage if it is not rejected. This is because it is difficult to reject the null hypothesis: it is rejected only in the face of overwhelming evidence against it. Let me explain this with an example from the criminal law. I am not a jurist, but this example is commonly used and I think I understand it pretty well. The point is that legally a person is assumed innocent until proven guilty. So the null hypothesis in the legal system is that the person is innocent. The assumption of innocence is selected to be the safe assumption (null hypothesis) in most legal systems, and it will be rejected only in the face of overwhelming evidence to the contrary. How is that related to the Background Study? The question is whether the assumption of normality is the safe assumption and should it be used as the null hypothesis. In my opinion it is not a safe assumption because it could underestimate the probabilities of high concentrations. For example, a lognormal distribution has a longer "tail" and it assigns higher probabilities to the high concentrations, and so it could possibly be a safer assumption. This option and perhaps others need to be considered."

THE EFFORTS TO CONCEAL TRUE FACTS ARE MORE THAN EVIDENT. WHEN CORPORATE INTEREST (PG&E) PAYS FOR ANYTING, PARTICULARLY IN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS, AND WHEN FEDERAL GOVERNMENT PAYS FOR, ALSO MILLION DOLLARS, FOR A STUDY, ALLEGED TO BE INCOMPREHENSIBLE, VAGUE AND AMBIGUOUS, FURTHER ALLEGED AS FRAUDULENT, PURPORTED THAT SUCH STUDY WILL ENABLE TO FIND HOW MUCH NATURALLY OCCURRING CHROMIUM (VI) IS IN THE AQUIFERS BENEATH THE TOWN OF HINKLEY, THUS ATTEMPTING TO CIRCUMVENT THE TRUE FACTS, AND THEREFORE CONCEAL THE TRUE FACTS, ALL IN AN EFFORT TO DETER INVESTIGATION AND PROSECUTION OF PG&E, STATE OF CALIFORNIA WATER BOARD MUST TAKE A NOTICE.

THE ACTS OF PG&E, USGS, AND WATER BOARD, MUST BE INVESTIGATED BY FBI.
